Successful Explorer in Nevada

Renaissance Gold (TSX-V:REN) is a prospect generator exploring for gold and silver deposits in the Great Basin of the western U.S. Renaissance is the spinout of the highly successful AuEx Ventures, Inc. that brought the Long Canyon gold deposit and the Pequop Gold District to prominence and created tremendous shareholder value. In 2017, Renaissance acquired Kinetic Gold Corp, adding 9 high quality projects to the portfolio and strengthening the management and technical team.

Nevada Focused

Today we have just 62 million shares outstanding

The tight share structure allows for a potentially meaningful per share value appreciation that could result from a discovery. Our current portfolio of exploration projects in Nevada includes a mix of grass roots exploration targets and more advanced projects. The portfolio approach reduces exploration risk associated with any one property and improves our chances of making a discovery.

Exploration Expertise

Renaissance is confident that management's extensive exploration experience and state of the art technical capability that guided AuEx into a major discovery at Long Canyon will continue to direct the Company toward new discoveries resulting in strong growth potential for shareholders. The Company believes that its prospect generator/joint venture business model is the most effective strategy for junior explorers by minimizing dilution of shareholders and leveraging risk to partners.
